

Sailing to the Shores of Generosity: An Exhibit

Louise Mould at the Robertson Library, University of Prince Edward Island from August 26 to September 21, 2018

An exhibit of mixed media works by Louise Mould will be held at the Robertson Library, University of Prince Edward Island, starting August 26th and continuing through September 21, 2018.

Louise has been working in this medium since 2000. These are small works on paper which are mostly abstracted designs with collage and ink. This exhibit brings together works composed on the theme of sailing. These convey reflections of the interaction of sailing on the sea often portraying the romance of the age of wind and sail.

Louise Mould is a Canadian painter and her work can be seen in The Dunes Studio Gallery in Brackley Beach, Ellen's Creek Gallery in Charlottetown, and at The Prince Edward Island Preserve Co. in New Glasgow, PEI. Her paintings are works of fiction and abstraction yet retain elements of recognition of place. She has had numerous solo shows and has exhibited in both juried and group shows. She is an alumni of the University of Prince Edward Island and of McGill University in Montreal, and also studied at the Université du Québec à Trois Rivières.

She currently lives in Charlottetown.

Contact:

Email: louise.mould@gmail.com

Website: <http://www.artistsincanada.com/mould/>

Blog: <http://louisemould.blogspot.ca/>